ITALIAN FLIERS REACH AMERICAN COAST THURSDAY

BELIEVED NEW DISTANCE RECORD ESTABLISHED BY TWO NOTED ARMEN

PERNAMBUCO, Brazil, July 5. (AP)—The Italian trans-Atlantic plane, the Savoia-64, was sighted over Port Natal at 4:05 o'clock this afternoon and it was expected that a landing would be made here about 5 o'clock.

The sighting of Capt. Arturo Ferrarin and Major Carlo P. Del Prete, Italian aviators, over Port Natal which is approximately 150 miles north of Pernambuco, marked the closing stage of one of the most brilliant flights in the history of aviation.

The fliers had estimated that a direct flight from Rome to Pernambuco would carry them 4,635 miles, the longest non-stop distance flight ever made, breaking by more than 700 miles the distance record from New York to Germany of 3,908 miles established by Clarence Chamberlain and Charles Levine last year.

The flight also marked the first time the South Atlantic has ever been spanned directly from the continent of Europe to the mainland of South America although a direct flight has been made from the mainland of America to the mainland of South America. This was accomplished by the French aviators Dleudonne Coste and Joseph Le Brix.

BUENOS AIRES, July 5. (AP)—A Rio Janeiro dispatch to La Nacion quotes from Port Natal as stating that Captain Ferrarin sent the following message this afternoon: "Arriving over Brazilian territory. We send you greetings."

RIO JANERIO, July 5. (AP)—Radio advises reaching Rio Janerio state that the Italian aviators, Capt. Ferrarin and Major Del Prete, have reached the Brazilian coast and are now heading southward for Rio Janerio.

It was not expected that they would reach the Brazilian capitol before daylight tomorrow.

Captain Arturo Ferrarin and Major Carlo P. Del Prete left the Montecello flying field outside of Rome at 7:15 p. m. Tuesday with the announced purpose of making a non-stop flight across the South Atlantic to the coast of Brazil in an effort to break the Chamberlain-Levine distance record of 3,908 miles between the United States and Brazil.

The Italian fliers estimated the distance from Rome to the coast of Brazil as 4,635 miles. If they should reach Rio Janerio after striking the Brazilian coast, they would add another 1,000 miles to the distance they had covered.

Their plane, the Savoia-64, is capable of remaining in the air long enough for the flight to Rio De Janeiro.

It was in this same machine that the two aviators established an endurance record, this month, of 58 hours, 34 minutes and 26 1/2 seconds. At 3:51 Pernambuco time (1:51 p. m. Eastern Standard time), the fliers were in the air 48 hours and in the light of their long distance record should be able to remain in the air another 10 hours, or long enough to reach the Brazilian capitol.

The South Atlantic has never before been crossed by air in a non-stop flight from Europe to South America. One non-stop flight has been made from the continent of Africa to the mainland of South America. This was accomplished by the French fliers, Dleudonne Coste and Joseph Le Brix, who flew from St. Louis, Senegal, to Port Natal, Brazil, a distance of 2,150 miles in 19 hours.

Many crossings have been made from the Cape Verde Islands, off the coast of Africa, to the Island of Fernando De Noronha, which is off the coast of Brazil.

ROME, July 5. (AP)—The newspaper, Giornale D'Italia, without citing its source, says the Italian trans-Atlantic plane of Capt. Ferrarin and Major Del Prete reached the Brazilian coast today and were going on to Rio Janerio.

Reported Near Coast.
RIO JANERIO, July 5. (AP)—With two nights of flying behind them two Italian airmen this morning were believed to be rapidly nearing the coast of South America in flight to establish a new distance record.

Captain Arturo Ferrarin and Major Carlo P. Del Prete intended to reach the Brazil coast at Pernambuco, about 4,635 miles from their starting point, Montecello Field, Italy. They would have bettered the distance record set at 3,908 miles by Clarence Chamberlain and Charles A. Levine by more than 700 miles. If they still have fuel they expect to continue on to Pernambuco, placing the distance record of 58 hours, 34 minutes, 26 1/2 seconds.

A radio message from an English steamer to the chief of telegraph at Natal today give the position of the fliers at 55 minutes after midnight as 10 minutes north and 28 degrees west. (This would place the plane about 800 miles northeast of Pernambuco.)

Hear Strong Signals.
RIO JANERIO, July 5. (AP)—The National Telegraph announced this afternoon that the Fort Alzea radio station heard strong signals from Capt. Ferrarin, radio operator aboard the Italian plane, Savoia-64 at 2:50 o'clock this afternoon.

FUNDAMENTALIST BAPTIST CHURCH PASTOR JAILED FOR IGNORING COURT INJUNCTION

DALLAS, July 5. (AP)—The Rev. Earl Anderson, 35, pastor of the Fundamentalist Baptist church, is in the county jail here and must remain there "from day to day until he shall purge himself" of contempt of Judge Towne Young's court.

Deputy sheriffs escorted the pastor to jail today after Judge Young had fined him $100 and sentenced him to jail until he shall post a $1,000 assurance bond that the court's restraining order to cease work on the new tabernacle will be respected.

In court Dr. Anderson declared that he would not at this time pay the fine or post the bond. Judge Young stopped him in a courtroom speech and ordered him taken to jail.

Eighteen others, cited to appear before Judge Young, were discharged by the court because they probably held a "misconception of the facts." He warned them, however, that like fate would await them if they continued work on the structure while the injunction was in force.

Dr. J. Frank Norris, Fort Worth evangelist, advised Dr. Anderson not to pay the fine. He said steps would be taken to obtain his release through habeas corpus procedure.

Despite the injunction a crew of men worked throughout last night in an effort to complete the structure.

Two densely populated areas—the Middle Atlantic states and the Midwest—had more than half the country's total deaths for the day. In the former there were 68 fatalities, which was five more than occurred in the Midwest.

STUDIO & LABORATORYCONSTRUCTIVE PLAT-FORM.Democracy's platform for the 1928 presidential campaign was built to fit the needs of the nation and the wishes of the people. It places country first, so will best serve the Democratic party.The platform built at Houston is constructive
where the Republican platform is unconstructive; progressive where the other is reactionary; a ggressive
where the other is evasive;
courageous where the other cowers.In drafting and adopting this platform the Democratic National convention made political history. Its adoption by acclamation was a blow to the enemy, with which the wish was the father of the thought that the Democratic party could not agree upon the platform.
The best evidence of the strength of Democracy's platform is the fact that it has cemented into harmonious whole the Democrats of the nation.Along the lines laid down by its platform the Democratic party will wage a united, intensive and untiring war against "pillage and privilege," against government for the few and for government for the masses,
and against the "invisible Government" created under a Republican administration and tolerated by the Republican party.Those who vote the Democratic ticket in November will not vote blindly on any of the several great issues which have divided the nation. There are no missing or wobbly planks in the platform of this party. Texas will roll up the usual Democratic majority in the November election regardless of the great noise made by the dissatisfied few."POWER TRUST" TRI-UMPHANTPresident Coolidge failed to sign the Muscle Shoals bill within 10 days after the adjournment of congress.
consequently, this constructive legislation has been vetoed by the "pocket veto."For several years, congress has been trying to find a sound solution of the problem of power development.
Numerous proposals, ranging all the way from private exploitation to out-and-out government ownership and operation, have been proposed with reference to Muscle Shoals.At the recent session,
thanks to the tireless activity and expert guidance of Senator Norris, an acceptable plan was formulated
and passed by both senate and house. It was clearly designed to further the interests of both the government and the consumers of electricity.President Coolidge may have convincing objections to the bill. But if so, why did he exercise a "pocket veto," which enables him to kill the measure without explaining why?The political campaigns will only last a few weeks.
When the candidates pass
from the spotlight why not a constructive program for the development and continued prosperity of Corsicana and Navarro county?Now that it is settled who will be the next president of the United States local policians will be able to hold the interest of the Navarro county voters until after August 25, at least.

or woman who apparently place no value other than dollars and cents upon their lives. Their attitude scarcely comes under the heading of courage, yet they laugh at danger.Indications are that the local political situation will keep pace with the thermometer
in establishing heat records. If all of us could only keep control of our temper how much more pleasant and how much more fun
we could have in the election of men and women to save the country.Even if somebody eventually discovered perpetual motion it would probably be like one of those Marathon dances.Many a girl listens to days and then objects to be-

CHANCE TAKERS.

So great is man's need or greed for gold that he is always willing to risk his life
for a few paltry dollars.
Though the odds may be 100 to 1 against him he takes the leap gladly and smilingly.Recently the promoter of an automobile race wanted to give his patrons a new thrill. Accidents during automobile races being common, but not a guaranteed part of the program, he conceived the idea of staging a head-on collision between two automobiles on the track. So he advertised for two men to drive the cars at a speed of 40 miles an hour, the two drivers to agree not to leap from the cars until a moment before the crash.The return mail was deluged with applications. One hopeful applicant agreed to accept if the job
would be a permanent one.
Some were willing to take the risk for as little as $50, but there were others who asked $75,000.Incidents such as this prove either that the hope that springs eternal in the human breast is overdeveloped in some people or that modern civilization overesti-mates the value of the dollar.
There are too many persons whose only aim in life is winning easy money.It is difficult to comprehend the working of the minds of that type of manFew men got that way in the rear. He never returned. Apparently he opened a door by which passengers leave the plane and fell into the sea.

For while those remaining aboard the plane were ignorant of what had happened and continued chatting. Sometime later they discovered the tragedy. The pilot headed at one for the French coast. He landed to the west of Dunkirk, France, on the beach at 8 p.m.

Meantime the banker's staff was awaiting his arrival at Brussels. Finally as the hours passed and Captain Lowenstein failed to appear they began telephoning to ports along the Belgian and French coasts and learned of the tragedy.

Captain Lowenstein had been visiting in London.

Alfred Lowenstein was reputed to be the richest man in Europe, his wealth being estimated at only less than that of Henry Ford or the Rockefellers. He controlled a steamship line was one of the chief shareholders in the Belgian railway system, owned manganese iron mines in Silesia, steel furnaces in the north of Spain, coal properties in the Saar Basin and in the Ruhr, and immense rubber plantations in the Congo.

He was born in 1877, his father being a small Jewish banker in Brussels. His immense fortune was built up by clever speculation. It took him thirty years to become the richest man in England. During the war he was engaged in London in connection with the provisioning of the Belgian army.

Two years ago he was virtually unknown in the United States, but he achieved the limelight almost overnight when he offered to loan Belgium $50,000,000 free of interest for two years to enable the country to stabilize the franc. Shortly after this he offered to lend France a similar amount at interest of only two per cent.

Captain Lowenstein said he had built up his fortune by sound business "hunches" on industrial trends. As a young man he staked everything on the future importance of artificial silk, hydro electric power, and methods of mass production.

Suicide Rumor Denied.

BRUSSELS, July 5. (UPI)—Rumors that Capt. Alfred Lowenstein, killed in a fall from his private plane last night, was a possible suicide were energetically denied today at the financier's office in Brussels.

It was stated that the captain was not alone at the head of his numerous affairs whose direction and responsibility was shared by several prominent financiers, including the J. Henry Schroder Banking Corporation of New York. From the financial viewpoint, it was said, Capt. Lowenstein's affairs will proceed as usual.

The belief in Brussels was that Capt. Lowenstein was the victim of a tragic mistake in that he stepped out into the door by which passengers leave the plane for the entrance to the washroom and in the darkness plunged from the machine. From the main cabin of the plane, a door opens toward a passage in which there are two other doors. That on the right leads to the lavatory and that on the left is the exit from the plane.

The distance between the two doors is scarcely two feet. When Capt. Lowenstein's valet went to

AFFIDAVITS CHARGE VIOLATION LOTTERY LAWS NEW ORLEANS

COMMITTEE ENGAGED IN SUP- PRESSION OF GAMBLING BACK OF MOVE

NEW ORLEANS, July 5.—Fourteen affidavits alleging violation of the lottery laws were filed against operators of gambling devices at the festival, in City Park yesterday as part of the American Legion's celebration of the Fourth of July.

The affidavits, signed by Captain William Peterson of the Tenth Precinct police station, were filed at the behest of the anti-gambling committee of the New Orleans Association of Commerce, which recently received Gov. Huey P. Long to suppress gambling in particular cities of the state. The governor's reply was for New Orleans "to come in with clean hands" and he would then determine what action is to be taken.

The committee announced forthwith an anti-gambling crusade in the city proper.

Protest was made yesterday to police that roulette and faro games were to be operated at the festival and when the holiday crowd assembled in the park, they found a score of policemen in charge and the booths holding the games closed. Legionnaires protested vigorously, pointing out their outlay had been nearly $1,000, all of which would be lost unless they were allowed to operate. Their contention was they had received no warning they would not be allowed to operate the games.

An agreement was reached after the opening had been delayed two hours and the festival proceeded until late in the night.

see the financier he discovered that the latter had opened the wrong door and had fallen from the plane.

Will Sell Plane.

CALAIS, France, July 5. (UPI)—Mme. Lowenstein who arrived here today, ordered that the plane from which her husband was lost return to London.

"Let it be sold," she said. "I do not ever wish to see it again."

The plane left for Croydon at 12:30 p.m. and will be disposed of immediately.

Searching For Body.

DUNKIRK, France, July 5. (UPI)—Coast guards and lighthouse keepers all along the coast between Fort Mardyke and the Bray Dunes have been directed to search for Capt. Lowenstein's body. Fishing boats were dragging the channel with nets but without result.

Had Tried Raise Loan.

BRUSSELS, July 5. (UPI)—The newspaper "L'Independence Belge," said Capt. Alfred Lowenstein, killed last night in a fall from his private airplane, had important liabilities in Brussels and had tried unsuccessfully to obtain a 1,000,000 pound loan in London.

DAUGHTER FAMOUS ABOLITIONIST DIES AT DOBBS FERRY

DOBBES FERRY, N. Y., July 5. (UPI)—Fanny Garrison Villard, 83, only daughter of William Lloyd Garrison, the abolitionist died today. She was born in Boston. Her early years were deeply affected by the anti-slavery struggle, in which her father for years risked his life at the hands of mobs, and its consequences, forms, such as women's rights and the peace and temperance causes.

During the civil war she met Henry Villard, then a war correspondent with the New York Tribune, who was spending his leave for gallantry in being the only correspondent to witness DuPont's shelling of Charleston. She and Villard were married in 1866.

Mr. Villard continued his journalistic work for several years and then became secretary of the American Social Science association. He later became president of the Northern Pacific railroad and was for a short time the foremost figure in the railroad world. He died in 1900.

Mrs. Villard subsequently joined the movement for women's suffrage and was a notable figure in that cause. Later she was aligned with the peace movement, founding the woman's peace society—an organization based on the non-resistance doctrines of her father, who had been a teacher and inspirer of Tolstoy.

From 1883 until 1917 she was owner of the New York Evening Post and of the Nation, a weekly edited by her brother Wendell Phillips, Garrison, from 1865 to 1906. She is survived by her two sons, Harold G. Villard and Oswald Garrison Villard, the latter the present editor of the Nation.

AMERICA'S NATAL DAY SACRIFICE IS PAST TWO HUNDRED

The Mountain states and the Northwest had the best sectional records with five deaths in each division.

Everywhere through the Midwest
the temperature was high, contributing both to deaths by heat and by drowning. The Midwest led the country in the number of drownings with 38, although the Middle Atlantic area had only two less.

The airplane accidents were at Joliet, Ill., where a pilot and two passengers plunged to death when the engine of their plane snuffed out at Beaumont, Texas, where one was killed.

Three of the motorcar deaths
came in races, drivers being killed in Oregon, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

The number of persons injured many probably fatally, ran into the thousands. Premature explosion of a truckload of fireworks at Lamar, Mo., injured 25 persons as they gathered in the public square to witness the display. In the larger cities the hospital list of persons hurt during observance of the day ran into the hundreds. Chicago, with an ordinance prohibiting the sale of fireworks, echoed all day with firecracker explosions, and reports from police and hospitals that the number injured was probably greater than in recent years.

One Martyred Man's Progeny Has Shaken the Wide World

Dying At The Hands of a Mob, Stephen Begot A Spiritual Heir Who Became An Influence Upon All Civilization—A Concrete Story.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Tragic failures have always had a way of becoming spectacular successes. All over the world the greater finds moments of victory. Even the weak find moments of victory. In dying, they begot a spiritual progeny who accomplished the objects for which they died. A thrilling book could be written upon "The Success of the Great Failures of History." And high on that roll of fame would be the name of the rare young man who was the first Christian martyr, Deacon Stephen, of Jerusalem.

For on that dread day, when the beautiful body of Stephen lay a mangled and bloody corpse beneath a heap of hewn-stones outside the walls of Jerusalem, was begun the career of St. Paul of Tarsus. It needed a vision on the road to Damascus to complete the conversion of Saul; but as his own later utterances showed, he never got away from the influence of that scene, when the dying Stephen cried like his Saviour on the cross, "Lord, lay not this sin to their charge."

Stephen died, but Saul lived, and wrought more mightily than the glorious martyr ever could have done. The champion fell, but the cause conquered.

A Story With Thrills. One reason why the Bible has perpetual allure and power that it is so largely a book of truth expressed in terms of human lives. It tells of the philosophical pargresses, of course; but mostly it is flesh and blood human beings who stalk through its pages. This is of Divine design; for most of us can only understand so much of truth as is incarnated in life.

On the other hand, one reason why so much of the destructive and negative religious literature of the time is really impotent is because it deals only with dreary abstraction, with what is not true to man, to humanity, to personal truth. Yesterday I spent two hours in reading half a dozen current religious magazines, mostly of the so-called "intellectual" sort. Criticism, negation, speculation, pessimism, dominated them all. The effect upon me was so depressing that I turned for an antidote to an hour with "The Bonnie Briar Bush," and then to this story of Stephen.

There is more of Christian education in the story of Stephen than in a whole course in ecclesiastical pedagogy. This thrilling tale makes Christians. It puts the iron of consecration and of heroism into their blood. First it wins and holds the attention, and then it kills the heart.

Attention Committees Newspapers have many times more readers than all of the books in print, because they present the facts of the living present. They show history in the making, through the many-sided experiences of living men and women. Nothing else is quite so "affuring" as real life.

Stephen was a man of charm and influence—"full of faith and of the Holy Spirit," "full of power and grace"—and his notable good works among the people made him a mark for the foes of the Gospel. One combative group, a polyglot mob of Cyrenians and Alexandrians and Cilicians and men from Roman Caesarea, gathered together to plot his destruction. When they found themselves no match for him in argument, they resorted to the small bully's reply, which has been universally popular since the days of Cain. "Well, we can lynch you, anyway."

So they raised a mob, and haled him before the Jewish court, where the beholders saw his face looking just like the face of an angel. Asked to make his defence he uttered not a word in his own behalf, but when given the opportunity to preach a scripture-grammed sermon, determined to show from the Jews' own history that Jesus was the Messiah.

Lynch Law in Old Jerusalem. Stephen never got a chance to finish his sermon. As he fearlessly arraigned his accusers as betrayers and murderers and law-breakers, the crowd rushed him out of the city with all of the mud fury and unreason of a typical lynching.

More real to Stephen, though, than the rough cobbles and filth of the city's narrow streets, over which his body was brutally dragged, the mob snitting upon him and cursing and pelting him the while, and more real than the jagged stones that pelted every inch of his frame and face, was the vision of an opened heaven with Jesus standing at God's right hand.

Yes, he saw Jesus standing! Theaviour could not remain seated on His throne, the son of his wits, the man following in His train, even if he were not indifferent to earthly woes for His children's sake.

No man ever suffered for the name of Jesus without the interest and succor of the King on His throne being enlisted.

Lynch-law seemed to have had its way. That gory, battered, mangled mass of flesh, which had once been a man of grace and power, surely proved the success of Stephen's foes. They returned exultant to Jerusalem, little aware that "the blood of the Lamb in the seed of the serpent" and that one of their own number was destined to take the torch that had fallen from the broken, bloody hand of Deacon Stephen, and to carry it to the ends of the earth. The mob did not even understand the oft-voiced truth that a good man often has his greatest power in his death.

As It Was: So It Is.

Too aristocratic to be one of the rabble, he actually threw the stones that murdered Stephen, a son of the scholar. Plucked from Tarsus, Saul, became custodian of the books of the husky mob which dictated itself of its cumbersome outer garments, the abeyas, that might throw more fiercely and gaily. Saul approved of the lynching. He applauded every stonethrown upon the beautiful face of the martyr. He, the well-born and educated, had for the moment forgotten the primitive. He could not help thinking of the vision of this fearless martyr, and it disturbed his conscience. He tried to submerge the abysmal ideas beneath repressed, real against the Christians. All in vain. Saul, the persecutor, was destined soon to become Paul the prophet and the propagandist.

PARADE IS STAGED BY LOCAL MILITARY UNIT LATE TUESDAY

Presenting the latest unit of the national guard organization in Corsicana, D. 132 Field Artillery, was National Guard, under the command of Capt. John J. Garner, staged a parade through the principal business streets of the city about 8 o'clock Tuesday evening.

Comprising sixteen members, the plane caught fire in the air and caused the death of three men late yesterday.

The dead: Willard Ames, pilot, of Rapid City; George Leonard Bettell, farm boy, living near Lemmon, S. D., and Frank Gibson, whose home is thought to be in Iowa.

The plane, used in exhibition flights, had just been refueled.

When about 500 feet in the air, it burst into flames. It sank rapidly for half a mile before it dropped.

It was believed that gasoline spilled during refueling had been ignited by the exhaust.

The plane was supported in the parade by the personnel of D Battalions.

Equipment for the two local batteries, Headquarters battery A, Pierce and Battery D, under Captain Garner, was loaded Wednesday and shipped to Palacios. The local units will entrain Saturday.

JUNIOR COLLEGE MATTER DISCUSSED CHAMBER COMMERCE

KERENS CHAMBER SECRETARY ANNOUNCES HIGHWAY MEET THERE JULY 11

Action which would have set in motion machinery for the organization of a junior college association in Corsicana was deferred at the last moment by lack of time at the regular meeting of the board of directors of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce Tuesday, but the board agreed that it would not encourage the selection of this city as a site for the Thorpe Springs Junior College.

Henry Ross, new Chamber of Commerce secretary at Kerens, was present at the meeting and briefly outlined the plans for a highway 31 rally to be held in Kerens July 11 with the intention of taking such action as would be needed to connect up with the road project of Consolidated Road District No. 1 of Navarro county and with other projects in eastern counties. A big barbecue is planned with representatives from numerous points present. The board voted to be represented at the meeting next Wednesday.

A letter was read from the president of Thorpe Springs Junior College in which it was stated that plans had been perfected for the merger of the college named and Gunter College, with the intention of ultimately building the two into a class A college. It was pointed out that it would be necessary to guarantee a building fund of $100,000 which would be available immediately so that work could be started within ten days after the location committee announced its choice. The 1928-29 session would be held in the new building.

Proposition Declined.

It was announced that the location committee from this college would be open for an invitation to visit Corsicana the week of July 10. The directors agreed that the time was too short for the project to be completed and agreed that the delegation should not be encouraged to visit Corsicana, although they would be glad to assist the committee in any way possible if they decided to come here.

A. A. Allison, chairman of the educational committee, stated that contacts with numerous leaders of the Texas legislature had convinced him that there were good prospects for the enactment of an "enabling" measure which would permit the counties to vote the schools. Mr. Allison also suggested that the various gubernatorial candidates be acquainted with the situation and their support solicited.

No action was taken on the proposal of the Fort Worth association of commerce for the amendment of the constitution that legal liens could be levied against homestead property for paying taxes.

The directors voted to send a telegram to the interstate commerce commission asking that the new rate to be in force after July 9 be suspended until a re-hearing was held. The message was sent in cooperation with the Waco Chamber of Commerce and other groups who are opposed to the new change which would give several of the larger towns alleged advantage on Atlantic seaboard rates.

The board voted to extend the thanks of the organization to Con-

HAWKINS TELLS HOW DEMOCRATIC VOTERS MAY BOLT AND NOT

INTERESTING VIEWPOINT OF GUBERNATORIAL CANDI- DATE IS GIVEN OUT

AUSTIN, July 3.—(UPI)—The question of how a candidate for public office in Texas on the democratic ticket can "bolt" the national ticket and yet not violate his pledge for the state primaries was answered here Tuesday by Judge W. E. Hawkins, Breckenridge, candidate for governor, from his own viewpoint.

After he had given out a statement reiterating a decision not to support Governor Al Smith for president, Judge Hawkins asserted that presidential nominees are not nominees of the July primaries and that Texas voters and candidates participating in the primaries under the democratic pledge are not morally bound to support presidential candidates other than the one chosen.

Judge Hawkins' stand with regard to the bolting is parallel to that of Mrs. Edith Wilmans, one of his opponents for governor, and Senator Tom Love, candidate for lieutenant governor, both of whom have declared they would not support Governor Smith.

The name of Cone Johnson, state highway commissioner and veteran democratic leader, was added late Monday to the list of politically prominent refusing to support Smith. Although Johnson said he does not favor the ultra-prohibition conference called for at Asheville, N. C., he declared he would not support the New York governor.

Mrs. Claude De Van Watts, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Texas, said Tuesday that she will attend the conference. She said before the Houston national convention that the W. C. U. would bolt Smith if nominated.

Johnson's statement at Houston that "I am a democrat, when declaring against the Asheville conference, was generally interpreted there as at least indirectly indicating that he would support Smith.

At the request of the local rural carriers' association, the chamber extended an invitation to the state convention of the Rural and Letter Carriers association now in session at Amarillo, to hold their 1929 meeting in Corsicana.

As new business, Sydney Marks made a motion that the educational committee be empowered to add others to their membership and to undertake immediately the organization of a junior college association in Corsicana to work actively for the securing of such a school. After a brief discussion action was postponed on the motion until the next meeting.

Among those attending the meeting were A. A. Allison, Lowry Martin, T. J. Hickey, J. M. Dyer, S. W. H. Hastings, F. N. Drane, C. L. Jester, Roy Christian, Sydney Marks, E. M. Polk, J. S. Murchison, J. N. Edens, B. H. Jester, W. P. McCammon, and R. J. Jackson.

SENATOR HARRISON SPEAKS FOR SMITH IN ENFORCING LAWS

GULFPORT, Miss., July 3.—(UPI)—"If Governor Smith is elected president, I have the slightest doubt that his administration will get better results in the enforcement of prohibition laws and other laws than have the last two republican administrations," Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, declared here today upon his return from the democratic convention.

Senator Harrison said the election of Gov. Smith would in no way jeopardize the prohibition law, as any change of the law must be made by congress and the executive can only make recommendations or veto legislation. There are not a dozen senators left of 98 and there are not 50 members of the house of representatives out of 435 who would modify the present prohibition law," he said.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF BETTY GOZA HARLAN.

Just a few days ago we laid to rest in the Oakwood cemetery, the body of one whom we all loved so well, one who so valiantly traveled through the many labyrinths of life, with no complaints to the Divine Maker. All through the days of her suffering, no protests did she make against fate, but lived in humble submission to her Lord.

Those who tried to comfort her during her suffering do not know of a braver soldier. When the end came she was ready for her life had been truly lived well. Her only regret was leaving her family that she was devoted to.

To you, dear children, I can only say, the road is long and has no turning that leads to an eternal return with mother.

Over her the fleeting shadows will pass; the rising sun will scatter over the little city of the dead his golden rays, and tint the western skies with the glories of departing day.

In the hush of the night the rays of countless stars will rest upon her grave. The murmuring brook, the bird on airy wing, the whispering trees will her requiem sing.

TEXAS NATIONAL COMMITTEEMAN WILL CALL STATE BODY

HAS NO PATIENCE WITH SO-CALLED HOOVER DEMO-CRATS, HE STATES

DALLAS, July 3. (AP)— Jed C. Adams, democratic national committeeman for Texas, today announced that he had asked D. W. Wilcox, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, to call that body together for the purpose of perfecting a state organization composed of democratic committeemen, state, county and precinct, who are whole-heartedly in sympathy with the democratic party, its platform and its nominees.

"The democratic party is not and never has been a one-day party," declared Mr. Adams. "Our democratics have never demanded that the party agree with them in all the ideals of government, but they have gone on the good old democratic principle that democrats should fight their battles inside their party and not outside of it. They believe that the party as a whole is wiser than any individual member of it or any group of its membership."

The Texas committeeman declared that he had no patience with those who call themselves "Hoover democrats."

"They might as well use one word and wear the name that really have assumed for themselves and call themselves republicans," he said.

"The only division in Texas in national politics this year will be between the republican and democratic parties. You will find yourself in one camp or the other. House of Liberty."

"The democratic house is the house of your fathers; it is the house of liberty and of tolerance; it is the house of the individual and the common man."

Continuing, Mr. Adams said, in part:

"Those who decline to vote the democratic ticket will find themselves going into the party which always has been the enemy and opponent of our principles. We were nominated shortly before he was named as their standard bearer, saw fit to issue an order requiring that the whites and blacks in his department should occupy the same desks."

"If the republican party remains in power under existing conditions a sufficient length of time the great question which will agitate the minds of the people, at least of the south, in the coming years will be whether our Jim Crow laws shall be repealed; whether or not prohibition of intermarriage between races shall be repealed; in a word, I want to see that the democratics in a little while it is entirely possible that there will be no color line drawn as far as your public schools are concerned and your children, if they attend the public schools, will attend only those where black and white alike are entitled by law to come."

Heflin Fails Speak

NEW YORK, July 4.—(P)—Senator Thomas Heflin of Alabama failed to appear today at the hour set for him to speak at a Ku Klux Klan meeting in Jamaica, Long Island. Rumor had it that he was in the middlewest but Klan leaders were without knowledge of his whereabouts or the reasons for his non-appearance.

The Klan meeting was one at which Governor Smith, with Senator Heflin was bitterly attacked in public addresses, was also invited to speak. The governor, however, declined, merely saying he already had two speaking engagements for the day and that was enough.

WIDOW OF CAPTAIN HINCH-LIFFE VOICES PUBLIC COM-PLAINT IN MATTER

LONDON, July 4.—(P)—Sale of the Daily Mail today published a complaint from the widow of Captain G. R. Hinchcliffe, pilot for the Honorable Elsie Mackay, on her ill-fated trans-Atlantic flight, saying her two children were unprovided for.

Establishment of a trust fund to reduce the British national debt in memory of Miss Mackay, by her parents Lord and Lady Inchcape called forth the letter.

Mrs. Hinchcliffe argued that although there was no legal obligation on Lord Inchcape there was a moral one because the whole scheme of the flight came from Miss Mackay who hired Hinchcliffe. She said she had written four times to Lord Inchcape telling him of her position and need. He replied non-committally to the first letter, but she received no response to the others.

The government has already accepted the trust fund of $2,500,000 which will be left to accumulate for 50 years and then be applied to the debt.

RETURNS TO MEXICO
ON GUARDED TRAIN

MEXICO CITY, July 4.—(P)—Having returned from a vacation in the United States on a train guarded by fifty federal soldiers armed with machine guns, Frank W. Morrow, American ambassador, was here today to help the American colony celebrate Independence Day.

Extraordinary precautions were taken to guard Mr. Morrow, as he traveled from the border to Mexico City. Numerous attempts to wreck trains had been made in the vicinity of Queretaro recently but the ambassador's train came through safely. He said the trip was uneventful.

El Universal today published an English Fourth of July edition at noon with a message from President Coolidge to Americans. It read:

"The foreigner who comes to live with us, to share what we enjoy and what we have to endure, to make his home here, to combine his interest with ours—this foreigner will find us welcoming him with open arms and calling him brother.

"Mexico wants the most friendly and cordial relations with all the nations of the world. We must have our international relations established upon the basis of mutual respect. We want any conflicts that arise to be solved by justice alone. These are our ideals."

His duties as head of the commerce department have drawn Mr. Hoover's attention temporarily from the preparation of his acceptance address. The department's budget for the fiscal year 1929-1930 has taken its place and in consequence interviews with departmental officials have displaced extended political conferences.

However, Senator Thompson, who led the fight against Hoover in the Ohio primaries, dropped in yesterday to pledge his support and predict that the commerce secretary would carry his state in the November election.

CALL OF NATIONAL COMMITTEEMAN GETS SUPPORT OF MANY

TEXAS DEMOCRATIC BOLTERS WILL BE READ OUT OF PARTY, BELIEVED

DALLAS, July 4. (AP)—Texas democrats who have threatened to bolt the party in November rather than support Governor Alfred E. Smith for the presidency, today were confronted with a movement to read them out of the state organization unless they remain "regular."

This movement got under way yesterday when National Committeeman Jed C. Adams of Dallas, announced that a meeting of the state executive committee had been called to perfect the party organization in Texas so that county and other officials would be in sympathy with the platform and the party nominees. He denounced those who "call themselves 'Hot democrats'" and declared they "might as well call themselves 'republicans.'

Commenting on the threatened split which grew out of the demands of ultra-dry factions for a candidate to head a ticket on a platform for rigid enforcement of the prohibition act and without an attempt at modification, Mr. Adams said those who declined to support Governor Smith would find themselves in the minority.

In support of Mr. Adams, Judge Volney W. Taylor, at Brownsville, Cameron county democratic chairman, declared he would not place names of "any 'party bolters'" on the ballots for that county to be used in the state primary this month.

Previously Mrs. Edith Wilmans and William E. Hawkins, candidates for governor, and Thomas E. Love, candidate for lieutenant-governor, and a former national committeeman, said they would not support Smith.

The regular organization is expected to give its support from Governor Dan Moody, who has declared repeatedly he would support the party nominees and who recently once of dry leaders at Asheville, N. C., called to organize Southern democrats against a wet candidate.

Cone Johnson, chairman of the state highway commission and for years a leader of Texas prohibitionists has announced that he would not vote for Governor Smith.

Mr. Johnson declared that Governor Smith's telegram to the national convention after he had been nominated was a "clear bolt from the democratic platform" and no one can be blamed for bolting Smith's nomination after he bolted first."

FAULTY PLUMBING ALLEGED CAUSE OF DALLAS EXPLOSION

DALLAS, July 4. (AP)—Officials investigating the cause of the explosion at a gas filling station here yesterday which cost the lives of Kenneth L. Ballard and George C. Braley declared today that they probably would file complaints alleging negligent homicide in connection with the case.

Jack Thompson, city fire marshall, and Anson M. Douglas, city plumbing inspector, said the gas lines at the station were connected by a man who had no authority to do so and that the act was a violation of city regulations.

It was found that the gas line had been carelessly plugged and that an opening had been left at one point when the distributive lines were set. The accumulated gas was set off by the throwing of an electric light switch.

VICE PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEE DECLARED BIGOTRY AGE GONE

ARKANSAS SENATOR SPEAKS BEFORE AMERICAN LEGION CELEBRATION

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 4. (AP)—making a plea for religious tolerance and complete separation of church and state, Senator Joseph T. Robinson, democratic vice presidential nominee, in an Independence Day address here, declared, "the age of bigotry has passed," and that "no man should be preferred or discriminated against in public authority because of his religion or his color."

Speaking at an American Legion state-wide celebration in honor of his nomination, the running mate of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York asserted that "the battalions that advance under the black banners of intolerance can never undermine or destroy the fortress of liberty."

Reviewing first the principles upon which independence was founded, Senator Robinson launched into a discussion of the religious issue in politics.

Religious Liberty.—

"Religious liberty is now the subject of frequent and sometimes bitter discussion," he said. "Indeed, colonial history reveals disputes and persecutions in almost all the colonies wholly inconsistent with the teachings of any Christian sect."

The colonial contests over religious liberty were responsible for the provisions in the sixth article of the first amendment of our constitution intended to set at rest forever agitation respecting the subject."

"The true constitution theory upon the subject is as concise as it is therefore that they should be complete separation of church and state. No man should be preferred or discriminated against in public authority because of his affiliation with a particular church."

The age of bigotry has passed. The battalions that advance under the black banner of intolerance can never undermine or destroy the fortress of liberty.

"Happily the great organization, the American legion, under whose auspices this celebration is held, is strong in advocacy and defense of these fundamental social and political principles."

All Are Patriots.—

"In great national emergencies our people do not waste their energies in fruitless controversies. They do not question the religious sect with which the citizen is allied. They call upon him as a patriot to render service, and thanks to the genius or our institutions there has been no distinction or discrimination on account of sect."

The white crosses erected on foreign battle fields to mark the graves of our soldiers who fell in the great World war are emblems of our piety. The candidates were invited to speak there in behalf of their candidacy and practically all were present. This was the second of the series of gatherings at which the candidates were present, Monday night, they spoke at Emhouse.

Other picnics were held at suitable locations in the county. Trinity river, Richland creek and Chemers creek were scenes of several picnics and fishing parties.

Automobile Cost Each Individual Over $1 Daily

CHICAGO, July 4. (AP)—Any one dollar a day—$365 a year—was the average automobile cost of the average American motorist in 1927.

At least that is what the figures compiled by the American motorists association reveal.

The operation and maintenance of his car cost each motorist $220 while the depreciation was figured at $136.

The depreciation was based on the seven-year life expectancy of a passenger automobile, and the average replacement cost of $963 for the year.

Fuel and lubricants represented 44 percent of the operation bill or $101. The mechanics charged $47 for their time while replacement parts totaled $41 and the tire bill was $40.

of that charity and tolerance taught and exemplified by the Christ who bore the cross on calvary and died upon it."

Turning to the subject of peace, Senator Robinson said:

"Permanent peace can never be brought about by mere treaties of arbitration and disarmament.

These are helpful, when reflective of the spirit of conciliation among the contracting parties.

"Our country stands for peace—peace at home, peace with all the peoples of the world. Let it be made clear that we covet no foot of soil possessed by any other power."

"International wars are concealed in suspicion and mistrust. So long as peoples misunderstand and hate one another, there will exist the dread and danger of war."

BRIDE AND BROTHER HELD IN CONNECTION DEATH OF HUSBAND

VAN BUREN, Ark., July 4. (AP)—First degree murder charges were filed here today against the widow and two brothers-in-law of W. G. Clayton of Tulsa and Muskogee, Okla., whose body, weighing down with rocks and with a bullet wound in the head, was found Sunday in Frog Bayou near here.

Mrs. Birdie Cooper Adams Clayton and her brothers, Hugh Cooper, were held in the Crawford county jail while officers sought another brother, Russell Cooper.

Mrs. Clayton was arrested late yesterday when she arrived in Fort Smith from Muskogee. Hugh Cooper had been held since Monday.

The widow denied any knowledge of Clayton's death and told officers she had not seen her husband since last Saturday when he left her in front of a hotel where they were staying. She and Russell Cooper had lunch together that day, she said, and declared she went to Muskogee Monday to look for Clayton.

Authorities have not advanced any theory as to the possible motive for the slaying.

FORT SMITH, Ark., July 4. (AP)—A bride and her brother were held today for investigation in connection with the death of a man identified as her husband, whose body was found by Frog Bayou, Crawford county, Sunday. Another brother was sought.

Mrs. Birdie Cooper Adams Clayton was arrested here late yesterday following identification of the body as that of her husband, W. G. Clayton of Tulsa, Okla. Her brother, Hugh Cooper of Rudy, Ark., previously had been arrested and officers said they also were seeking Russell Cooper, another brother.

R. S. Wilson, prosecuting attorney of Crawford county, said he would file murder charges in connection with the man's death.

Mrs. Clayton was quoted as saying she spent Saturday night and Sunday at Fort Smith and as denying any knowledge of Clayton's death. Records at Bentonville show that the couple were married there June 29. She was the widow of Troy Adams, a Fort Smith automobile dealer.
